

Philanthropy

For the past 11 years, Synthetic Grass Warehouse \(SGW\) has been involved with all types of non-profit organizations across the nation. The company always searches for ways to give back to local communities, especially when there is a great need for high-quality products. It's important to SGW to help their community by sharing their synthetic grass and to raise money through various outreach programs. The company receives numerous online and phone inquiries explaining their story and why they would like synthetic grass. The inquiries are then filtered through SGW management and donations are based on the greatest need. In return, the individual/organization will leave an honest review on Google or Yelp, and provide photos of their synthetic grass.
